

Bert's Rock

In the 1970's we covered only two runways past The Rock; namely Billy Bell's (Roy's) and Leo Dwyer's Rock. The deer, consistently, ran below Leo Dwyer's Rock and headed out towards Dwyer's Hunt Camp. Bryan put on his Christopher Columbus hat and went west of Leo Dwyer's Rock and found another rock overlooking a nice hardwoods. Not only has this been a great runway for Bryan to shoot bucks and fawns, but a fox, a wolf, and a moose have been chased out to him as well at this very spot. He shot a fawn there in 1981, and bucks in 1996, 2000, and 2005. Many other hunters have lucked out there as well.
